

You wouldn't bathe him here.

But if you don't wash your hands
after using the restroom, you might as well.

Each year, poor handwashing sickens millions. Infants, the elderly and pregnant women are at increased risk of death.

The Centers for Disease Control (CDC) advise us that Handwashing is the single most important means of preventing the spread of infection.

A photograph of a baby with red hair and blue eyes sitting in a white toilet. The baby is looking directly at the camera with a neutral expression. Two yellow rubber ducks are floating in the water in front of the baby. The background is dark, making the white toilet and the baby stand out.

Wash hands often.
Dry with a paper towel.
